Leadership Team Alaynia McGill

My name is Alaynia McGill and I act as Senior Executive Director here at Nurturing Knowledge School.

I joined NKS as our School Age Director over 24 years ago, and through the years I've worn several hats across our organization. Serving our schools in multiple roles has provided me with a deep understanding of what grounds us and propels us: our philosophy and the many ways it energizes our classrooms, our teachers and the passionate professionalism they bring to their work, our children and their senses of wonder and curiosity that help shape our curriculum, and our families and the meaningful bonds they form with our team and with one another.

Teachers are the heart and soul of our school, and I strive each day to ensure that our team feels supported, heard, and connected. I find great satisfaction in working with our educators to encourage their own personal and professional growth, which in turn promotes the growth and development of all our students. The desire to see our children blossom and our community thrive motivates me every day.

I am married with three wonderful children and a gigantic fur baby, all of whom keep us on our toes and bring us so much joy! My two daughters are in college, and my son in high school ... my own degree was earned at the UW! I am also a high school club volleyball coach, and I love to play card games, be outdoors, and spend time laughing with my family.

Warmly,

Alaynia
